Description

A robust, seaworthy centre cockpit yacht built by the prestigious Swedish yard Hallberg-Rassy on the boatbuilder's island of Orust. The Hallberg-Rassy 42F is a safe and reliable bluewater cruiser, perfectly suited for long-distance sailing with a small crew. Her deep centre cockpit, featuring a fixed windscreen and high coamings, offers excellent protection in challenging conditions, while wide running decks ensure safe and secure movement around the vessel underway. Designed by renowned Argentine naval architect Germán Frers and built to the high standards of Germanischer Lloyd (GL), this yacht combines performance, comfort, and quality. Generous fuel capacities provide impressive range, and ample storage throughout the yacht in lockers, drawers, and compartments adds to onboard convenience. The craftsmanship of Hallberg-Rassy shines through in every detail, from flawless fiberglass construction and exquisite joinery to the high-quality technical installations and fittings. Hallberg-Rassy 42F Mk II with reverse yacht transom and integrated swim platform. The yacht is offered by her second owner and comes with two-cabin layout and a timeless Scandinavian interior finished in satin-varnished Khaya mahogany. Indoor storage every winter and regular maintenance and service at a professional shipyard. Spacious and bright owner's cabin aft over the full beam of the yacht, offering twin berths, comfortable seating, and ample storage. The U-shaped galley is located to starboard in ...
