Description

The Scangaard 21 Classic is a easy handling and stiff daysailer with classic lines, traditional underwater boat with a long keel and attached rudder blade. Just as a "Daysailer" planned, the foredeck offers a lot of space, but no berths. All sheats, halyards and control lines are easy to handle from the rudder. Thanks to the deep, protected cockpit, the long keel and the high ballast ratio of almost 50%, the Scangaard 21 is safe and good to sail, even for beginners or children. The genoa furler and the self-tracking jib are more reasons for this easy-to-handle daysailer. The hoisting strops, a deck stepped mast and the trailer with a total weight of less than 1.5 tons simplify the handling. The first-hand-owner's yacht is well-maintained and completely equipped. A high-performance sail set including a code-0 and an additional self-tracking jib is included. An optional TORQUEEDO electric outboard and a HARBECK trailer belong to the boat as well.
